

There is deep concern and apparently trial evidence that this action would have a detrimental impact on Ham radio. This would be a violation under rules and a great disservice to the nation. The proponents of this action are asking the FCC to promote a harmful action under which the FCC itself becomes a deliberate perpetrator. Such an action is a violation of public trust and a basis of action in the courts.